Sheboygan County Home Builders Association Help Build a Hunger Free Community

PLYMOUTH, WI – The Sheboygan County Home Builders Association lend their support to the Salvation Army with their annual Food Drive. The Salvation Army “House of Food – Build a Hunger Free Community” is the theme for this annual fundraiser.

“Although food drives are popular at Christmas, their visibility falls off during the winter months,” states Bill Sydow, B & P Roofing and Home Expo Chairperson. “Thanks to the SCHBA Home Expo, we are able to provide an influx of donations to the Salvation Army during this much needed time of the year.”

“We first began the House of Food at the 2005 Home Expo,” says Sydow. To help increase awareness and gather more food items to complete the House of Food, association members decided to extend the event to the entire month of March culminating with building the House of Food at the Expo on April 1st. “We are asking our members, their employees, families and their customers to generously donate to this worthy cause.”

Donations can be made at the gathering barrels at association member locations as follows: Wisconsin Public Service, Maritime Insurance Group, RLO Sign, Bitter Neumann Appliance TV Furniture, Oostburg State Bank, Schenck SC, Werner Homes, Budget Blinds, Culligan, National Exchange Bank, Sheboygan Falls, Richardson Lumber, Sheboygan Press, Macco’s Floor Covering, UnitedOne Credit Union, Community Bank – 7 Locations, Oostburg Lumber, Falls Glass Service,

Items needed include breakfast items, canned fruits, pasta, laundry detergent, paper goods and baby diapers along with other non perishable food items.
